Zane Grey's Master Picture "The Vanishing American" REX THEATER Friday and Saturday February 5th & 6th

Heralded by the press and the public as a picture so big in theme, so gripping in action and so colorful in conception that "one more visit" is not sufficient for a full appreciation of it. "The Vanishing American," Paramount's epic of the Indian, was given its Broadway premiere at the Criterion theater, New York, on Thursday, October 15th. At the same time the picture was playing to packed houses in San Francisco and Charlotte, N.C.

The critics, without an exception, recommended the production, this deserved praise standing as a tribute to Paramount, its production staff and its players, and to Zane Grey, who conceived the story from which this historical epic was adapted.

The Elks' valentine dance on the 12th is going to be a dance that is different. There are still two or three who haven't secured tickets; if you happen to be one of these better get a ticket and come along—everybody else will be there and you'll feel homesick if you don't come too.

A game of poker had been arranged for this Friday night between the Spokane Zips junior amateur champions of Washington, and the Claresholm Juniors, but the very mild weather has spoiled the ice, and the time has been put off to another date for the game to take place on this date.

The theme of "The Vanishing American" is of much vaster importance than either "The Pony Express" or "The Covered Wagon"; its treatment is quite as arresting and remarkable. It is one of the greatest pictures of this or any other film year.

Claresholm Lodge No. 17 K. B. is to entertain the Grand Chapter and all other Grand Lodge officers on Wednesday evening, February 10th. Two rinks from Claresholm attended the Foothills bonspiel held this week in High River. The snow was skidding rather fast, making impossible visiting and exits, it being laid out with five sheets of ice. Until Wednesday noon the ice was in splendid shape, but then with no wind up, the skaters put an end to curling, leaving the two local rinks well in the running for the jewelry. The personnel of rinks were: D. Munro, L. Norgard, A. Anundsen, W. Wyatt, skip; Gardner Brown, W. C. Wayne, Geo. Godley, D. A. Anderson, skip.

The weather turned slightly colder last Friday, and about two inches of snow fell Friday night and Saturday morning. The weather week, however, springlike weather was again with us, much to the dissatisfaction of those who had figured on a few days of winter sport.

"The Vanishing American" is a stupendous production. It is magnificent. If possible, it is greater than "The Birth of a Nation," but not only because it has in it more of that which made "The Birth of a Nation" so great. "The Vanishing American" is unique. There are not two or three suspense scenes. There are numerous and they are scattered throughout the picture from beginning to end. The action is gripping, often thrilling. Sometimes it wants to shout right out in the theater. It is a masterpiece in the motion picture director's art.—Charlotte (N.C.) News.

SUCCESSFUL BURNS' NIGHT CELEBRATION

St. Andrew's Society of Claresholm district put on their sixth annual celebration in the Odd Fellows' Hall last Friday night. The attendance surpassed all previous years despite the snow storm that set in during the afternoon and continued well into the night.

The hall was tastefully decorated in blue and white, with St. Andrews flag and the Scotch thistle much in evidence in the decorations.

The program opened with the presentation of the old Scottish play in one act, "Caledonia," followed by Mr. J. R. Watt taking the role of Mary Stewart, Miss Jean Laidlaw as Moran Cameron, D. S. Mitchell as Donald Stewart, J. R. Watt as Archibald Cameron, John McLean as Captain Sandeman, and E. H. Mack as James McKenzie. The play was well presented, each one playing the role assigned with much success.

The program was followed by two songs rendered by Miss Kitte Guy, "Can Ye Sew Cushions" and "O, Whistle and I'll Come Too Ye." T. R. Evans gave two comic songs, "The Devil and the Deep Blue Sea" and "Bella the Belle of Dawson."

John McLennan of Nanton gave an excellent address on "Robert Burns, illustrating his points with apt quotations from the poems of Burns and Mr. N. Paterson followed with two Scotch songs, "My Ain Folk" and Lang Lang Syne," sung most pleasantly and with effective interpretation.

J. McLean, the local book of commerce staff, sang "Loch Lomond," his fine baritone voice being heard to good effect in this selection.

The comedy in one act, "The Minister's Preparation," followed. John Anderson was impersonated by T. R. Evans, Mr. Paterson by Mrs. J. L. Cotter, and Mrs. Longob by Mrs. J. N. Paterson. This play was also well received by the audience.

McLean Barron of Barons sang a number of Scotch songs much to the delight of the large audience.

At the close of this program the floor was cleared for dancing.

Old time favorites were much in evidence on the dancing program.

Refreshments were served about midnight, after which dancing was resumed, and kept up till nearly four o'clock in the morning.

English Language Spoken By 170,000,000 People And Is Now Becoming Universal

Stray show which was the wind blow, in a recent incident, Vienna is one of the signs indicating that the English tongue is destined to attain eventually the status of a universal language. It appears that last year the teaching of English by radio was started in Vienna with the result. Possibly as an outcome of this a decree has now been issued by the ministry of education recommending English as a compulsory modern language in the higher school grades, equal to a large measure French and Italian.

The English vocabulary is an enormous one. It contains some half-million words, and is one of the most heterogeneous, erratic and confused in the world. In this state of affairs there are to be found the verbal conceptions of many nations, curious, intermingled Saxon, Hebrew, Huguenot, Greek, Huguenot, Chinese, German, Latin, French, Spanish, Italian, etc. It is said that on the evidence of words alone it would be impossible to classify English with any other of the established stocks and stems of human speech. In this state of affairs, in grammar, in English there is little tangible evidence that it is a branch of the Aryan family.

The history of the heterogeneity of the language can be found in the history of the race—in the early invasions of Britain. Its extensive commerce, and its growth as a world power; while its suitability as a universal tongue, and the general geographic scattering of the dominions of the fact-founding empire, one result of which is that the English tongue is already known in every corner of the globe. Apart from the general diffusion of the language, conservative estimates place the number of those speaking it at approximately 160,000,000 leaving all Europe and America.

Viewed in all its aspects, the action of Vienna appears to be far sighted, well thought out and wholly in line with the march of events and the probable needs of the future.—Christian Science Monitor.

Saskatchewan Clydesdales

This Western Province is Famed for Leadership in Domestic Breeding of Horses

Saskatchewan is today almost as much the unuplicated Clydesdale country on this side of the Atlantic as Scotland is in the several countries where a favorable combination of circumstances the University of Saskatchewan came into possession of some of the finest Clydesdale breeding stock in the entire world at the same time that individual breeders throughout the province were building up studs. The winnings of this produce at Toronto and Chicago were not to mention, Belgian and American horses, in the Canadian market have done very well indeed at the national and international shew, but there are so many more Clydes in Saskatchewan than of either of the other outstanding specimens of the great Scotch breed that the leadership attained by the province should be maintained—Saskatchewan Farmer.

Where Canadian Flour Goes

is Penetrating the Out of the Way Places of the World

The extent to which Canadian flour is penetrating to the more out of the way parts of the world is shown by official figures of exports for the last full crop. In that period Great Britain bought 2,651,000 bushels of Canadian flour, Brazil 2,659, Austria 1,001, Morocco 3,381, New Zealand 287, Palestine 4,212, South Africa 1,000, Argentina 1,011, Spain 1,012, Chile 2,373, the Philippines Islands 3,242, and Venezuela 110,601. Sixty-eight countries and dependencies figured in the last of direct purchasers of Canadian flour in that crop year.

Canada's Wheat Raising Farms

Wheat is the Principal Crop on Over Half of Farms in the Dominion. According to the latest figures of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, 711,090 farms in Canada in 1931, 541,293 reported the raising of wheat. This means that nearly 84 per cent of the farms in the Dominion may be regarded as being devoted to the raising of wheat as a principal crop. Wheat took 20,276,070 acres of the 39,205,963 acres in grains of all kinds, and out of 49,880,663 acres in field crops of all kinds, 17,300,000 were in wheat. Wheat would fall within the main 4 farming classification, in general the raising of wheat may be regarded as the criterion of the number of relative importance of grain growing farmers to the whole agricultural industry in Canada.

According to number of farms reporting the growing of wheat, the provinces rank as follows: Manitoba, Ontario, Alberta, Quebec, Manitoba, Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and British Columbia. The eastern provinces raising wheat do so to a large part, contribution to the farm, the transportation of Canada's enormous yields of wheat from the threshing field to town elevators is therefore a present day problem of Canada, more economically important in the west—Regina Leader.

Western Mind Cannot Hope to Understand Oriental Methods

Tortuous as has been the course of the Turkey Convention negotiations, it is still far from clear what will be the final result. The negotiations have been extremely difficult, and extremely puzzling to the occidental mind unfamiliar with Oriental ways. It is hardly probable that the secretaries of state and ministers in the League of Nations have been greatly surprised at H. Not if they have had personal experience in negotiations with Turkey. In his recently published memoirs, Lord Grey quotes the following remarkable statement made to him by Lord Kitchener who, as British high commissioner in Egypt for many years, had had cause to study oriental psychology and methods. In discussing the present course to be taken by Abdül Hamid, the Turkish Sultan, on a certain question of importance, Lord Cromer said that in dealing with an oriental and destined to be what he was, one should ask himself three questions: "What would the questioner think? What would be done by the wise old Turk? And what would you think the oriental would be likely to do?" And having asked these questions, said Lord Cromer, three things could be considered settled, for it could be taken for granted that the oriental would do none of them.

That it would probably be an experimental station, to be run on a commmercial scale, would be located in Winnipeg following research tests in atmospheric conditions, which he was at present making here, was the statement made by R. G. Gilbo, a former United States flying officer who is acting for British and United States financial interests.

Mrs. Gilbo, who is residing at 625 Broadway, said that the atmospheric station, which she was carrying on, had proved that the air here is the best part of the province and especially that of the northern part was absolutely ideal for flying.

"It is almost perfect atmosphere," said Mr. Gilbo, "for carrying on experimental flying. In fact, my research work has shown me that the air here is more fitted for flying than that of any other part of the country. I am sure that the air here is the best in the world."

One of the most prominent citizens in Canada, Dr. Hincks, who had much to do with the Union of Churches in the Dominion, the "Princess of Wales" when in Canada, was asked how his brother, the Duke of York, played golf. Manitoba Menaced By Rats

Serious Damage Has Been Done to Grain in Stacks and Storage
Manitoba is the scene of a veritable rodent plague, and, according to reports, the Salads are so badly infested in certain localities as to cause alarm.

While the provincial department of agriculture has informed the government that there are no rats in grain stacks and storage, the situation so far has not reached the stage where removal of the "rat virus" campaign of a few years ago is regarded as necessary to eradicate the destructive pest.

Manitoba has no native rats, authorities point out, except, of course, the mouse. All the rats in the province have come in during the past twenty years, chiefly from the United States.

The United States Department of agriculture has written to Professor Jackson, estimating that there are 500,000 rats in that country, and that they cost the nation $200,000,000 a year—that the equivalent of 200,000 farmers are kept busy raising food for the rats. The rodent has eaten out live animals, and fatigued men died as a result of having holes eaten in them. The rodents occasionally gnaw the bone of horses until they bleed.

Chattering under unusual conditions, an actual plague of rats in Western Canada is regarded as improbable says Prof. Jackson. Deep snow traps the rats and unless the snow is extremely deep and continues through the winter months, his numbers are greatly reduced. When food runs short, rats eat their young and often each other.

Hard On British Taxpayer

Burden of Paying War Debts Falls On Individual

Great Britain paid $25,000,000 to the United States in 1931, and part payment of her war debt of nearly five billions to that country.

If Britain had the money which was put up to stiffen the backs of her Allies in the Great War, she would have shown also some reluctance to have given even alms to the poor.

Even Russia, which country has refused to recognize any of the Czar's obligations, Britain would still have to pay her debts.

The United States debt in this case would give no worry to the British taxpayer. It is a heroic struggle the British are putting up, paying the other fellow's debts. And it all falls upon the individual.

It is a solid gold standard, and the credit of the country is unimpaired.

After all, it must be a very gloomy person who can see retrogression, and the British are doing the same. The Country can present a clean slate to the rest of the world.

The state of a state rests upon the character of its people, and the long run in Britain patriotism means self-sacrifice.

Not otherwise could John

Bull maintain such a stout heart and sound constitution.—Catharine Standard.

Free Comrade From Dog

Gang of Squirrels Encircle Animal to Release Intended Victim

Chattering their battle cry, "All for one and one for all," four squirrel apprentices had been hunting for a day in the sacred grove of their domain in Harvard Yard and jumped on a comrade.

They bit him so severely that he had to be taken to a hospital, and a badly injured right forearm.

This hound caught a squirrel square and attacked the little ball of fur.

The squirrel's wild chattering trees, and finally each brown break dashed to the comrade's side.

In a second the dog was desperately in need of help.

It released his comrade, all scampered back to their trees and the dog lay on his side, barking in pain, unable to rise.

The squirrel had tried to bite that part of the dog which was in immediate need of help.

With the release of their comrade, all scampered back to their trees and the dog lay on his side, barking in pain, unable to rise.

Apprenticeship Plan in B.C.

Beginners Will Be Prepared Same As System In Great Britain

The industrial apprenticeship system, practised with success in the British Isles for many years, will be given a thorough tryout in the building trades of New Canada.

The various labour and board of trade and the labour council have thrown their support behind the project and a committee of labor and construction representatives has been formed to see that it is an apprenticeship worthy enough.

The first work of the council will be the undertaking of a survey to secure the interest of contractors in the apprenticeship principle and to ascertain the requirements of apprentices.

The apprenticeship plan has aroused much interest among the youth of the city and many inquiries have been made. It is expected that it will be an important factor in controlling those who, under present conditions, complain that it is difficult to encourage boys and young men to continue at a school to learn a trade long enough to acquire skill. The plan is expected to bring about a general stimulation of industrial efficiency.

Says Hoover's Statements Unwise

London Times Comments On His Criticism Of British Regarding Rationing

The London Times, which previously had not commented editorially on the subject, conveys the thought:

"We regret that Secretary Hoover's statements on rationing have led into a series of statements which can only be described as inaccurate, unwise and calculated to cause ill-feeling among Americans. Imperfective families, we are told, are to be blamed for the practice of profiteering—that is what they amount to—are quite unjustified."

"It is not a case for retribution but for common sense." At best, Mr. Hoover's harshest criticism increases the general opinion of the rest of the world, which may serve to check a worldwide movement for the same adjustment of economic differences between nations by mutual concession and agreement."

Canada In 1926

Dominion Is Now On The Crest Of A Wave Of Prosperity

Canada is experiencing a year with positive results which she has never had. For some reason or other, whether it has been of our own making or that nature has been particularly kind to us, to say the natural resources of Canada are now in the department of the interior, we have just passed through a year of good crops, our mining industry has been busy, our forest resources have been well used, and our manufacturing plants have produced the greatest possible results in production. In fact, the possibilities seem to be about all we could desire, and there is only one question to be asked—what is the secret to the success? We can certainly not claim that we have been so fortunate in finding a bona fide reason for any feeling of depression. Canada's clouds, the result of war conditions, are rapidly clearing, and the sun is shining brightly that bids fair to place Canada upon the crest of the wave of prosperity in the coming year.

World Championship Dog Derby Planned

Will Exceed The Pas Derby By Twenty-three Miles'

A world championship dog derby will be held in the United States for the first time in the history of dog racing, the light horse carried this year. The course from Calgary to the Great Divide and Banff will be the longest dog race ever staged according to records.

Prizes will be offered for the best 23 dogs.

The strength trophy and $1,000 in cash will go to the winner. From Calgary, the dog teams will travel to a height of 5,500 feet over a distance of 120 miles. The contest will start at 10 a.m. and last 23 hours.

The rugged scenery in North America will be the test unique ever travelled by the dog teams.

Another feature of the carnival which will be staged from February 5 to 11 inclusive, will be the slugging contests over the new and exciting courses. Among the stars who will participate will be Ned Nelson, who holds the world's champion in both the amateur and professional classes.

BAREE, SON OF KAZAN
James Oliver Curwood
A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

Copyright, 1917, by Doubleday, Page & Co.
"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vingraze Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, is an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

Baree, the wolf-dog, training tragically for his mistress, Neesope, follows the trail of the lone bairns used to traverse. There were many rabbits in the traps and he did not go to the traps, but he followed the trail of the girl. He was a changed Baree. He was more than ever like a wolf, yet he had gained a taste for men and always snarled deep in his throat when he heard the cry of the pack.

Agrah, in the heart of a fierce February blizzard, he pursued a bear cub so closely that he sprang over a cliff and broke its neck. He lived well, and in size and strength he was growing swiftly into a giant of his kind. In another six months he would be as large as Kazan, and his jaws were almost as powerful now.

The winter passed and spring came, and still Baree continued to haunt his old haunts, even going now and again over the trail traps as far as the first of the two cabin traps. The traps were rusted and sprung now; the thawing snow disclosed bones and feathers between their jaws; under the snow they were frozen fast and out on the ice of the lakes were picked skeletons of foxes and wolves that had taken poison bait. The last snow went. The swollen streams sang in the forests and canyons. The grass turned green, and the first flowers came.

Surely this was the time for Neesope to come home! He watched for her eagerly, but it was not long before he realized that she had come to him again. Conditions were changed, of course, and as days grew into weeks in the inhabitants of Beaverfoot's colony saw no signs of accepting the new Baree. Baree had lost his love for the baby Baree of long ago. He was big, black, and wolfish now—a long-fanged and formidable looking creature and therefore fierce. Violence was regarded by the bairns with a deep-seated fear of fear and suspicion. On the other hand, Baree no longer felt the old puppish desire to play with the baby bairns, so that they could trouble him in those other days.

All these things were happening, but Baree was not alone. He had found Neesope, still Neesope did not come! And last something broke inside of Baree, his last hope, perhaps, his last dream; and one day he had gone good to the Gray Loom.

If the princess mother herself were the spirit of them.

"Again, in the heart of a fierce February storm he pursued a bear cub so closely that he plunged over a cliff and broke its neck."

All these things were happening, but Baree was not alone. He had found Neesope, still Neesope did not come! And last something broke inside of Baree, his last hope, perhaps, his last dream; and one day he had gone good to the Gray Loom.

CHAPTER XXIV.

It was early in August when Baree left the Gray Loom. He had no objective in view. But there was still left upon his mind, like the delicate impression of light and shadow, a faint memory of his earlier days. Thinking and happening that he had almost forgotten required to him now, as his trail led him farther and farther away from the Gray Loom, and his earlier experiences became dimmed in his mind by the breaking of the ties that held him to the home of the Willow. Involuntarily he followed the trail of these impressions, but now he was alone, and now they helped to build up new interest for him.

A year in his life was a long time. It was more than a year ago that he had left Kazan and Gruenwald, and the old bairns still set out there came back to him instinctive memories of those days of his earliest puppyhood, of the streak into which he had been born, and of his fierce days with his brothers. He was not, however, experiencing those robust older memories. He came to the blind canyon up which Neesope and Pierrot had chased him. That seemed to now, and now, for the first time, in many weeks, a bit of the old-time eagerness to speed into Baree's feet. Memories that had been hazy and indistinct through forgetfulness were being recalled, and he was again a cub. He caught the cool, moist air, and then came a hollow splash in the water where he had first made the acquaintance of Umak.

The surface of the water was in motion and was too cold to be good health. My daughter, who is very ill, would be happy if I could get her to make a recommendation to it will be happy to recommend it to all young girls."

ward to Wollaston Lake, which was a good hundred miles north of the Gray Loom. After the first few days he turned west again, following the Canoe River for a distance, and then swinging westward along a twist creek called the Little Black Bear with No Tail. More than once during this week he came into camp with man, but with the exception of the Cree hunter at the upper end of Wollaston Lake, no man had seen him. Three times in flowing the glikie he had come into camp, but when darkness passed, half a dozen times in the stillness of night, he noise about cabin and tepees in which there was life, and once he came so near to the Hudson Bay Day Camp that he could hear the barking of dogs and the shouting of their masters. And always he was seeking—questing for the thing that had gone out of his life.

Little Helps For This Week

The depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! How unsearchable are His judgments, and how past finding out.

Savart then, I know not how or where, No help I see whereso'er I turn;

With me else we must despair;

With others of love and learn;

When Thou and I have hand no longer,

We lead us forth into pleasant place.

We never know through what strange mysteries of compensation the great Father of the universe may be carrying out His sublime plan; but those three words, "God is love," ought to comfort, to every doubting heart, the solution of all things.

GUARD THE BABY AGAINST COLDS

By Keeping Baby's Own Tablets
in the Box

To guard the baby against colds nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are a mild laxative that does not irritate the bowels working regularly.

It is a recognized fact that where the stomach and bowels do not work the body will not eat; that the health of the little ones will be good and that they will grow well.

Foolish Saving

A penny saved is not always a penny earned. Sometimes it is two pennies lost. The merchant who spends nothing on advertising loses much more than he saves.

The money spent for plate glass windows is not looked on as lost; nor is the money spent on better interior lighting.

Anything that increases the flavor, that adds savor, that multiplies customers is very probably regarded as a good investment.

Advertising is a good investment — just as plate glass windows are. Advertising sells many goods to more persons than shop windows do.

A WORD TO THE PUBLIC

Do you resent having a merchant address his message to you in the form of an advertisement in our columns? On the contrary, is not your impulse to respond to his friendly overtures?
